This publication has been produced by the Utah State Department of Corrections (UDC), Inmate Placement Program (IPP). The booklet contains information regarding UDC's relationship with county jails in the state, how state offenders are placed in jails, and how the state and individual counties benefit from this relationship.

Any questions regarding the information contained in this booklet, UDC or the Inmate Placement Program in general, please contact me at (801) 545-5559.

JAIL PROGRAMS IN UTAH

A State and County Partnership That Works!

IPP Vision:

Inmate Placement Program envisions a culture where we partner with the local Sheriff's Office's, where honor, accountability, and integrity are reflected. In so doing, we foster an environment rich in professionalism, compassion, collaboration, and dedication. Together with the local Sheriff's Office's we are a fair, focused, innovative, and energized team.

IPP Mission:

Inmate Placement Programs dedicated team of professionals ensures public safety by effectively managing contracts and state inmates housed in the county jails. This is accomplished by maintaining a close collaboration with the local Sheriff's Office's. Our team of Inmate Placement Program staff along with the local Sheriff's is devoted to providing maximum opportunities for inmates to make lasting changes through accountability, treatment, education and positive reinforcement within a safe environment.

Background of Jail Contracting

The Utah Department of Corrections and the 26 counties that operate jails across the State have formed a cooperative relationship serving all the citizens of the State. There have been significant savings through this relationship within their criminal justice systems while improving public safety.

For a number of years, the State prison system has rented county jail beds to house prison overflow. Originally, this was a small-scale operation using temporarily unoccupied beds in the counties. In recent years, counties have built many more beds than they will need in the foreseeable future so they rent them to the State of Utah.

In 1993, Corrections was contracting for 117 county jail beds. In FY 2016, Corrections was funded to house 1,774.

Benefits of Jail Contracting

STATE OF UTAH

The State of Utah has realized many benefits from participating in county jail contracting.

- 1) Cost savings for the State are dramatic when you consider the cost if Utah were to build prison space for the currently contracted and funded 1,774 beds.
- 2) By contracting with the counties for prison housing, the need for additional State full time employees is reduced.
- 3) Inmates can be housed in their local areas near families, jobs and community ties.
- 4) Jail contracting allows the State to provide for inmate protection and house state inmates in smaller, more manageable groupings.

LOCAL COUNTIES

Twenty-one of the 26 counties (81%), operating jails in Utah, participate in jail contracting. This is evidence of the benefits realized through this state/local partnership.

- 1) The primary benefit for counties is the infusion of funding to help establish effective jail systems and to expand resources for future local growth.

The cost of jail expansion often is beyond the revenue stream of small counties. Finding ongoing funding sources to help pay off construction bonds is a necessary component of any expansion in jail space. The State of Utah offers a solution by contracting for beds in local jurisdictions. The funds generated by these contracts can then be used to offset the cost of construction.

State inmates housed in county jails also contribute significant labor which helps reduce the costs of operating the county jails. In addition, inmates have assisted in the construction of county jail facilities saving substantial dollars on jail expansion projects.

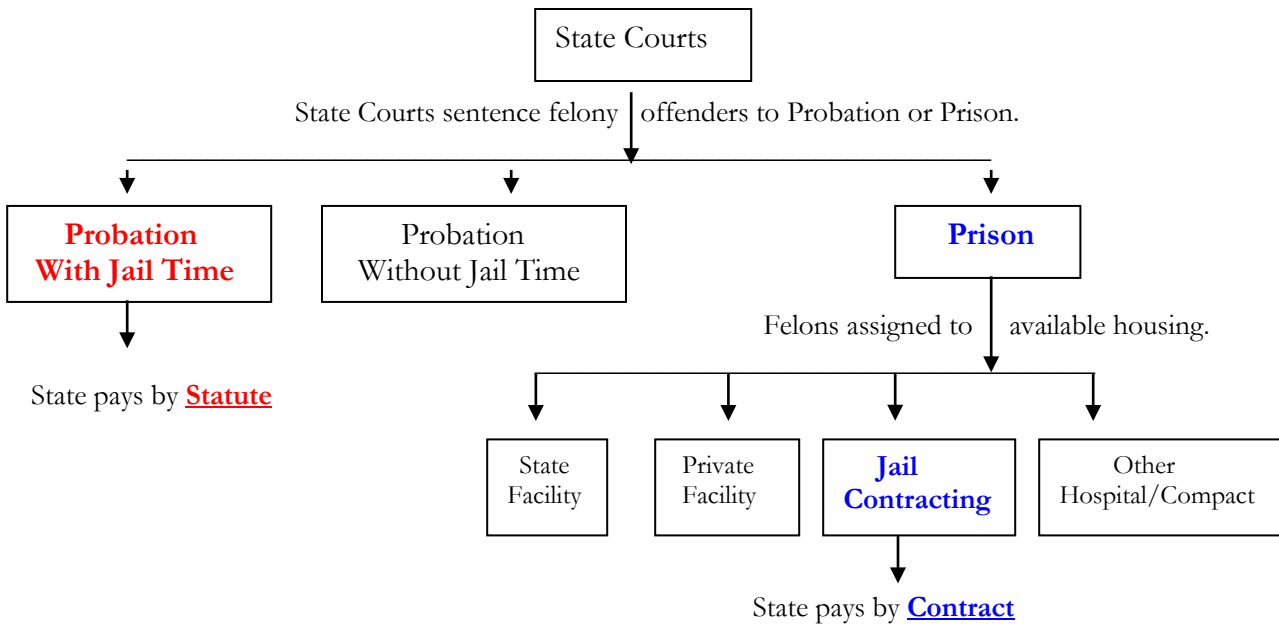

- 2) The overall economy of counties participating in contracting has been improved through the infusion of state funds. In some areas, the county jail has become a significant employer.
- 3) Contract inmates in the county jails provide labor for important community projects, such as repair of county facilities, assistance to the forest service and many community projects.

How do state-sentenced offenders end up in local county jails?

There are several ways that offenders sentenced by state courts end up in local county jails. Below is a diagram that outlines the two major programs under the State's Jail Program System.

Felony Offenders

Sentencing, Condition of Probation, Jail Contract Housing

JAIL CONTRACTING

- Courts sentence to prison, not jail.
- County participation is voluntary and by contract.
- Board of Pardons has jurisdiction of inmate.
- Bed cost is by contract for 73% of the final state daily incarceration rate as approved by the Legislature and 86% for Contract Facilities with UDC approved Substance Abuse or Sex Offender programming.
- Medical and transportation costs are Corrections' responsibility.

JAIL CONTRACTING

Offenders who are housed under jail contracting are sentenced to prison by the court. The Department of Corrections refers the offender to a Contracted County Facility. The Contracted County Facility has the authority to approve or deny the referral. If approved the offender is housed in the Contracted County Facility as a state offender. The Department reimburses each Contracted County Facility for housing these offenders as explained in the diagram above.

PROGRAMMING IN THE COUNTY JAILS

The Contracted County Jails provide a variety of education, programming, classes, and religious services. During FY16 Contract County Facilities assisted inmates in earning their High School diploma and inmates in earning their Utah High School Completion Diploma. FY16 successful transitions from Substance Abuse Programming totaled 186 state inmates in Beaver County, 38 state inmates in Garfield County, 32 state inmates in Kane, 16 state inmates in Millard County and 17 state inmates in Weber County. FY16 successful transitions from Sex Offender Treatment Programming totaled 29 state inmates from San Juan County and 21 state inmates from Sanpete County, for a total of 50 SOTP successful transitions. Uintah Basin Applied Technology in Duchesne County had 16 successful certificates.

The following is a summary of the programming approved to receive the funding given by the Legislature for FY16, $508,000.00.

Approved male inmate Substance Abuse and Sex Offender Programs:

- Beaver: “Beaver Residential Treatment” (BRT) – Residential Substance Abuse – Behavioral Modification – 6 to 9 months, Phase One – 122. This has been changed to a full 12 month program for FY17.
- Davis: “Jail Substance Abuse Treatment” (JSAT) – 6 month program, - 2 beds for state inmates as bed space permits. Davis has not billed UDC for the use of these beds at this time.
- Garfield: “Dare to Soar” – Residential Therapeutic Community – 12 to 18 months – 40 participants
- Kane: “FOCUS” – Residential Therapeutic Community – 12 to 18 months - 66 participants
- Millard: “R-Hope” – Residential Substance Abuse – Behavioral Modification, 6 to 9 months, Phase One – 16 participants
- Weber: “S.O.A.R. to New Heights” – 9 -12 months – 50 participants
- San Juan: Sex Offender Therapy (SOTP) – 18 months – 64 participants
- Sanpete: Sex Offender Therapy (SOTP) – 18 months – 32 participants

The following amounts were paid for FY16 programming days from the funding granted by the Legislature at the rate of $7.43 per day per inmate:

Jail	Inmate Days	Average # of Inmates/Month	Amount Paid
Beaver County	53,613	172	$ 398,345
Garfield County	17,173	50	$ 127,595
Kane County	22,478	69	$ 167,011
Millard County	5,436	17	$ 40,389
San Juan County	21,133	64	$ 157,018
Sanpete County	11,151	33	$ 82,852
Weber County	7,611	26	$ 56,550
Total	138,145	431	$1,029,761

Note: Programming went over Legislative funding by $521,761.00. This was taken from the contract housing budget.

(Please note: High School and High School Completion Diplomas reported below are as reported in the Utah State Department of Education report “UTOPIA.” Red text “Available” number for housing above the contracted number shown will need an approved Legislative Resolution for the additional available beds to be under contract.)

Beaver County Community Service Projects or Other Savings To Taxpayers:

- State inmate inside jobs - $25,000/year

The Beaver County Correctional Facility continues to be aggressive in their commitment to inmate programming. Inmates are screened upon arrival and offered placement in the Residential Treatment Program as soon as openings occur. Beaver has been able to keep their programming beds full. The Residential Treatment Program was recently expanded to 150 beds to accommodate those that need a longer program.

Beaver School District has had a great year and revised their curriculum and was successful in graduating 120 inmates with a high school diploma. The School District has expanded reading programs and other continuing educational projects.

The inmate community work crews continue to provide a valuable resource to the county. The crew is able to offer many man hours of labor at a much more affordable price to the local cities and county. The crew is in demand and receives good feedback from the community.

A music program in which inmates are instructed in music theory and playing guitar has been developed to give inmates better use of leisure time.

Beaver County Jail offers inmates employment with jobs in the culinary, janitorial, laundry, instructional, painters, and inmate work crews. This work program creates a huge savings to the county each year and gives the inmates the tools to become successful upon release.

Life Skills- Thinking for a Change which is a cognitive restructuring class is offered to all inmates with six (6) groups running at a time.

Volunteers at the facility conduct religious services, as well as LDS Indexing, LDS 12-Step, which helps inmates at the Beaver County Correctional Facility deal with their needs.

The Duchesne County Jail continues to provide high school education through the local school district. Inmates may take this opportunity to further their education by obtaining their high school diploma. Many inmates have taken advantage of this program and furthered their education during their incarceration. Administration and staff at Duchesne County Jail believe education is a key factor for reducing recidivism in our county jail.

The Building Trades program offered at Duchesne County Jail continues to provide inmates with the opportunity to learn viable skills that will serve them well upon release back into the community. These skills are good trade skills that will serve them well upon release back into the community. These skills can help them achieve employment when released from the facility. Inmates finishing the Building Trades program receive a certificate in carpentry. This provides the inmate with substantial advantage of gainful employment.

The work crew program provides the inmates the ability to work supervised on the outside perimeter of the facility. It also provides increased skills and work ethics returning back into the workforce.

- Inside work program - $125,100/year
- Outside work program - $150,000/year
- A total of seven volunteers provide 80 hours of service per month at the Garfield County Jail.

Garfield County Jail continues to progress with their "Dare to SOAR" Substance Abuse Treatment Program. The smaller number of residents in the program and the staff involvement make this a very cohesive and successful unit. The inmates feel that they gain a lot from the relaxed atmosphere. The classes are intensive and cover the many facets of addiction, and the road to recovery and success outside prison life.

As always, the education department at the Jail shines. The diligence of the High School administrators is apparent in the number of successful graduates. The jail has focused on the addiction recovery and a plan to succeed outside the prison walls. The classes and education available are to give viable tools for employment upon release and success in personal and family life.

The road crew and car wash crews are rotated together, the car wash inside and the road crew of four is outside of the facility.

Garfield has produced a CDL class designed to prepare the participating inmate for testing for over the road licensing. They have introduced Building Trades where small buildings that can be transported off the facility are being constructed to specific orders. They have a "Basic Welding" program that teaches a new skill to help with employment as well as a new program for Silk Screening and Embroidery to teach new trades and skills also. This "Graphic Design" class as well as the others is all designed to slow recidivism and help build acceptable lifestyles for those who participate and are released.

GRAND COUNTY

Iron County Jail houses ten state inmates for the express purpose of working in the culinary and maintenance departments. The inmates placed here are expected to provide a base stability for the county inmate workers, as the county workers are employed for a much shorter time. The program works well and provides the state workers a steady job and the opportunity to save money for release.

Juab County houses from four to six state inmates on a regular basis. The majority of those sent to this jail for housing has established parole dates, or are waiting for placement into needed treatment programs offered by the UDC. These inmates are hand selected based on behavioral and offense criteria, as they are used in a trustee type position. They are responsible to perform all internal work positions, janitor, food service, laundry, cook, and they also grow an impressive garden each year, which is a notable cost reduction for Juab’s produce needs.

Kane County Community Service Projects or Other Savings To Taxpayers:

- Inmate work inside the facility – $45,000/year
- A total of 36 volunteers provide approximately 100 hours of service per month at the Kane County Jail.

Kane County Jail has developed an extensive and well organized programming department. The goal of the FOCUS Program is to provide offenders with both sex offense and substance abuse issues quality programming, using current evidence based best practices, motivational interviewing and up to date assessment and measurement tools.

The Residential Substance Abuse Treatment at Kane County Jail is structured in Therapeutic Community setting and very progressive in its approach. Jail Security staff are trained in the (TC) Therapeutic Community Treatment Model; this provides the highest professional standard of maintaining a secure environment and supporting effective therapy. With the TC approach Deputies working with offenders are better trained and skilled in supporting the overall goal of the program while dealing with this unique population.

The FOCUS pre-program housing unit gets offenders into the routine of programming and starts them on their way with assignments and reading opportunities. This helps the offender utilize the actual programming time more successfully. They have also incorporated several Cognitive Life Skills classes including MRT (Moral Reconciliation Therapy) into the "FOCUS" program.

General Housing

Services provided for all offenders housed at the Kane County Jail include; Cognitive Life Skills classes, Education, rehabilitation and leisure/recreation.

Allowing offenders a way to be productive with their time while incarcerated is very important. Equally important is the longer term concept of helping them learn skills and create hobbies that will help them after release. The guitar, music, crochet and art classes will help the offenders find ways to spend free time after release that is hopefully more productive than their past pursuits.

The many facets encompassed in the programming developed at Kane County help offenders prepare for entering sex offender treatment.

San Juan County Jail continues to be very active in programming and educating inmates. The main emphasis continues to be the Sex Offender Treatment Program (SOTP). Currently there are 64 inmates in the SOTP program at all times. The program follows the UDC Sex Offender outline.

Educational classes are offered through the San Juan School District for those needing a high school diploma, or for those students that need to brush-up in certain areas. In addition to the educational classes there are a variety of other classes available in the education center such as web page design, computer aided drafting, internal combustion (small engines), and map making. The jail has also implemented a musical keyboarding class, jail garden project and the LDS Indexing. The jail garden project has been a great success. The crop helps supplement the jail kitchen with fresh vegetables.

San Juan does not currently have an outside work crew program; however, they have a number of jobs inside working in culinary, laundry, janitorial, sewing and tutoring. The LDS 12 Step program is available, as well as, a variety of religious services. The inmates have been given the opportunity to apply their artistic abilities by painting a number of murals on the walls of the jail.

The inmates at the San Juan County Jail spend countless hours and a lot of talent crocheting various projects such as afghans, hats, booties, and stuffed animals; donating them to the local communities, charities and VA hospitals.

Sanpete County currently houses 68 state inmates, focusing on those that are required to complete Sex Offender Treatment Program prior to receiving a release date, or to keep an existing release date. There are a total of 32 active treatment beds, and the rest of the beds are used for pre and post treatment.

This program is now going into its fourth year, and has been running very well. Sanpete has also expanded in the programming area and now offers Victim Empathy, Anger Management, Thinking Errors and Relationship Skills that work in harmony within the Sex Offender Program.

Sanpete has also implemented a “good time” credit program for their County offender’s to meet the new JRI requirements. This consists of numerous cognitive and life skills based programs.

The Sevier County inmate work crews have assisted with a garden. They helped plant, weed, and harvest vegetables. Sevier County Jail is able to donate vegetables to their local food bank. The garden also helped the jail food budget and the jail has served delicious, nutritious meals.

Another highlight of the work crew is when it snows, Sevier County Jail allows elderly citizens that have difficulty in clearing their driveways and sidewalks to call. The work crews are sent to remove their snow. The elderly are very appreciative of this service.

Other jobs the work crews help with are: assisting with the local Snow College – Richfield and the Black Hawk Arena. They help set up before and clean up after events, as well as any other projects the college and arena may need assistance with. They also do various town projects such as tree trimming, gutter cleaning, cemetery up keep etc. It has been a great year for our work crews, we appreciate all they do.

Sevier County Jail still has “A+”, a very successful computer-based program. It allows inmates the ability to earn their High School Diploma or the High School Equivalency by working at their own pace on individual subjects needed for graduation.

The Outside Work Program, which began five years ago, currently uses 6 to 10 state inmates for approximately 4 days a week to assist the State, Federal and County entities. The program will be expanded in the future to employ more inmates and will increase to full time.

The jail is using correspondence courses that make college courses available to inmates and may increase this to in-house courses through the local Uintah Basin branch of USU and UBATC (Uintah Basin Applied Technology College).

All courses, diplomas are taught by or coordinated through Maggie Webb. She is a full-time licensed secondary school teacher employed by Uintah School District and provides educational services to Uintah County Jail in the evenings through Ashley Valley Educational Center. Ms. Webb has been providing educational services at Uintah County Jail since 2004.

The Wasatch County School District continues to offer High School and computer skills to inmates. Education continues to be a top priority at Wasatch County Jail.

Volunteers dedicate approximately 123 hours per week holding church meetings, drug and alcohol support groups and life skills classes.

The two county work crews continue to be a great success. The crews are involved in a number of jobs that benefit the community. They are responsible for lawn care, snow removal, and general cleaning at 12 county buildings in addition to the Wasatch County Event Center, Fair Grounds, and cleaning of County vehicles. The crews also assist with special events throughout the year.

Inmates continue to volunteer large amounts of hours on projects to help others in need. GOGI also continues to be a great success at the Wasatch County Jail.

The Wasatch County Jail takes pride in teaching fundamental skills such as sewing, cooking, cleaning, and laundry to the inmates as they can use these skills in their daily lives upon their release.

Washington County Jail continues to provide excellent employment opportunities for inmates. They have active outside work crews that provide many hours to local communities. They also have many inside jobs that help those who are not eligible for outside work. The jail also has an excellent garden that is a great source of produce for jail usage and to supplement fresh produce at the homeless shelter. The inmates working in the garden enjoy growing produce and take great pride in what they achieve.

The jail has been working on developing more programming for inmates. The religious community provides many hours of volunteer efforts to help them provide the services they currently offer. The inmates were allowed to enter art projects they had created in the Washington County Fair. One of the entries won a sweepstakes ribbon for his pencil drawing.

The Weber County Kiesel Facility is a community service and work program facility. The community service program provides labor for all local governmental entities within the county. Various projects include assistance to city and county building grounds-keeping, parks and recreation areas, county and forest service jurisdictions. Assistance is provided but not limited to the Children's Justice Center, animal shelters, the transfer station, and local area attractions. Weber County uses minimum security type inmates who have been reviewed, screened and classified for appropriate security levels to participate in the community service projects and assignments.

Additionally, the Kiesel Facility offers a nine to twelve month Residential Substance Abuse Treatment Program for state female inmates titled S.O.A.R. 2 New Heights.

The Weber 12th Street Facility provides inmates paid jobs in the kitchen and laundry, along with volunteer jobs cleaning jail sections. Weber 12th Street Facility offers inmates an opportunity to complete their High School education, as well as a variety of programs including Life Skills and Morale Reconation Therapy. This facility also provides weekly religious services for inmates to attend.
